TIGER SCARE at Mysore Airport

Midnight sighting triggers 50-member combing task

Mysuru, Jan. 5 (MTY&KS)- A tiger was sighted by personnel of the Karnataka State Industrial Security Force (KSISF), which manages security at Mysore Airport. The big cat was spotted inside the Airport premises at Mandakalli late last night, following which the Forest Department launched a combing operation this morning to trace and capture the animal.

According to sources, the sighting occurred around midnight when the KSISF personnel were on routine patrol. They noticed an animal moving within the Airport premises.

When the personnel moved closer and flashed vehicle headlights towards it, they realised it was a tiger. The security staff immediately recorded a video of the animal on their mobile phones and shared it with the Airport authorities and Forest Department officials.

With the Tiger Census commencing today and Chief Minister Siddaramaiah scheduled to arrive at Mysore Airport this afternoon, Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) K. Paramesh, along with Forest staff, rushed to the Airport early this morning.

2028 State Assembly Elections

'I want to contest from Chamaraja'

"People here are educated and cannot be bought with money power. Instead, they consider the development works, which is why Chamaraja Constituency is my natural choice to contest from in the next Assembly Polls."

- Former Mysuru-Kodagu MP Prathap Simha throws his hat into State politics
- Chamaraja needs representative with a vision for development
- Chamaraja constituents respond to development, not money

Mysuru, Jan. 5 (BLU&VNS)- Former two-time Mysuru-Kodagu MP Prathap Simha, who was denied the BJP ticket to contest the 2024 Lok Sabha Polls, has expressed his interest to contest 2028 Assembly Polls from Chamaraja Constituency in city.

Speaking to media persons at a calendar launch here this morning, he said that it was quite common to enter the State politics after a stint at the national level.

Speaking of why he chose Chamaraja, he said, because it is an ideal Constituency considering various positive factors.

"People here are educated and cannot be bought with money power. Instead, they consider the development works, which is why Chamaraja Constituency is my natural choice to contest from in the next Assembly Polls," he pointed out.

He then added saying, "earlier, late H.S. Shankarlinge Gowda had won four times on a BJP ticket from Chamaraja Constituency which has been a BJP bastion for years. Considering the all favourable factors, I have started my political activities from the Constituency."

When asked if he had chosen the Constituency since it was dominated by Vokkaliga community, Prathap Simha said that the Constituency had people not only from Vokkaliga community but also from other communities as well.

Reacting to ongoing issue with respect to Kogilu Layout in Bengaluru, Prathap Simha questioned the State Government's decision to allot lands to illegal occupants stating that instead of providing shelter to the homeless people in Varuna Constituency, why has the Government decided to provide lands to illegal immigrants from Bangladesh.

"Is it a plan to provide houses for them and later add their names in the voters' list to increase the vote bank," he questioned and added that the move to provide houses to illegal migrants would prove disastrous for the State in the future.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

DON'T RUIN FUTURES OF KIDS, TEACHERS: For more than a decade, Karnataka has made the Teacher Eligibility Test (TET) a mandatory gateway to government school jobs, holding out the promise of quality teaching and merit-based recruitment. Today, that promise rings hollow. Nearly 4.5 lakh candidates have cleared the test since 2014-15, yet only 28,277 teachers have been recruited. Thousands of qualified candidates now find themselves stranded, staring at the prospect of becoming age-barred. The irony is striking: the Department of School Education and Literacy has the highest number of vacancies in the State government, at 79,694 posts. A responsible government would treat this as an emergency, given the direct impact on classrooms and learning outcomes. Instead, recruitment has been paralysed.

The government's primary defence is the unresolved issue of internal reservation within the Scheduled Castes. Since October 2024, recruitment was effectively frozen while the State awaited the recommendations of the Justice H.N. Nagamohan Das Commission; it later attempted to implement a sub-classification formula. Legal challenges followed swiftly.

This legal and policy tangle may explain the delay, but it does not justify the human cost. For lakhs of eligible candidates, this prolonged uncertainty has meant crushed hopes and wasted years. They appeared for the TET, assuming timely recruitment would follow. Instead, the test has become, as many ruefully put it, a burden rather than a bridge to employment. If the government cannot recruit, it should at least suspend the test until these issues are resolved.

Compounding the problem is the State's decision to plug the gap by hiring over 50,000 guest or temporary teachers. Experience from other departments shows that temporary appointees eventually demand regularisation, leading to an entirely new problem for the government to resolve. More importantly, frequent teacher turnover undermines continuity and adversely affects learning outcomes in government schools that cater to the most vulnerable children.

A pragmatic approach would be to set aside the internal reservation issue for the School Education and Literacy Department for the present and proceed with recruitment under the earlier policy. Internal reservations can be implemented prospectively to fill vacancies arising in future. To hold an entire generation of qualified teachers and students hostage to an unresolved legal battle is neither just nor sensible. — In Deccan Herald

Grow plants without water and soil

New York: Aeroponics, the process of cultivating plants in an air or mist environment without the need for soil or another aggregate medium, has been around for a long time. Now, you can experience this fascinating, futuristic-looking process in the comfort of your own home with the world's first aeroponic desktop ecosystem.

Designed by Yunyi Zheng, the Izestee Plant Cultivator is probably the world's most advanced flower pot. The transparent cube provides a clear view of the plant's roots, which are suspended in the air, with no soil or water, just plumes of nutrient-enriched mist pulverized from the bottom of the device.

Izestee features a built-in heating system with a maximum temperature of 45°C, three adjustable mist modes that pulverize just the right amount of water for various plants, and a grow light that simulates natural sunlight indoors to stimulate photosynthesis.

Man owns more than 11K snow globes

Berlin: A German man has ramped up his Christmas spirits by owning more than 11,000 snow globes — the largest collection in the world.

Kardinal first earned his Guinness World Record back in 2002 when he owned a mere 6,100 of them — and kept on amassing the winter treasures, which have since grown to 11,017.

The oldest one in his collection was made in 1889 in Paris with an Eiffel Tower inside, and his smallest is the size of a fingernail and doubles as a wearable pin.

He also has other novelties he acquired during the COVID-19 pandemic — one with a roll of toilet paper inside and another with a snowman wearing a mask.

Urgent need for AI-enabled traffic signals at key junctions

Sir,

I am writing to draw the attention of the city authorities and the Traffic Police to the increasingly chaotic traffic situation at two critical junctions in Mysuru — Sri Lakshmi Venkataramanaswamy Temple Junction, V.V. Mohalla and the vicinity of Akashvani Circle, Yadavagiri.

Currently, the traffic signal flow at these points is inadequate, leading to significant congestion, long wait times and a general state of confusion for commuters, as there is no proper, balanced traffic flow for all incoming and outgoing lanes.

This is not only frustrating but also poses a serious safety risk to pedestrians and motorists alike.

I would like to urge the authorities to look towards the successful models implemented in neighbouring cities. Specifically, Bengaluru has adopted AI-enabled Volumetric Adaptive Control (VAC) systems for very smooth and efficient vehicular movement.

Implementing this advanced AI-enabled technology at the Sri Lakshmi Venkataramanaswamy Temple Junction and Akashvani Circle in Mysuru would bring multiple benefits:

1. Optimised Flow: Signals would dynamically adjust based on real-time traffic volume, significantly reducing bottlenecks.

2. Enhanced Safety: A clearer, regulated flow of traffic would inherently enable extra safety for everyone on the road.

We request the city administration to prioritise the upgrade of these specific junctions with modern, adaptive traffic management technology. A smart city requires smart traffic solutions.

Teachers log in as digital attendance begins

Mysuru, Jan. 5 (SPN&BS)- The digital revolution sweeping the country has brought a change in the attendance system of the School Education and Literacy Department.

Beginning Jan. 1, 2026, teachers, officers and other staff attached to primary and high schools in Mysuru and other districts are marking their attendance digitally.

Deputy Director of Public Instruction (DDPI) Udaykumar told Star of Mysore that all staff must register their duty attendance through the Kartavya App.

The newly introduced system, known as the Karnataka Advanced Attendance Monitoring System (KAAMS), has been launched on a pilot basis in Mysuru, Kalaburagi and a few other districts across the State.

Mysuru district has a total of 8,261 teachers. The system operates in Global Positioning System (GPS) mode, making it mandatory for teachers to mark attendance from their designated workplace.

As school timings vary — with some schools functioning from 9.30 am to 4.30 pm, 10 am to 4 pm and 9 am to 3.30 pm — the digital attendance window has been standardised from 10 am to 4.30 pm. The new system is intended to ensure a minimum presence of seven hours at the workplace, with attendance to be marked compulsorily at both entry and exit times.

DDPI Udaykumar added that the system would also help in better preparation of students for the forthcoming SSLC examinations. With special and additional classes planned to improve results, the impact of these measures can be effectively tracked through the digital attendance system.

Five Tiger Reserves, 36 Sanctuaries in State to be covered in 2026 Tiger Census

Enumerators set out for the tiger census inside the core area of Nagarahole Tiger Reserve this morning. Picture right shows a Forest officer recording the pug marks on his mobile phone at Antharasanthe Range.

Mysuru, Jan. 5 (MTY&BCT)- The 2026 National Tiger Census has begun across Karnataka's five Tiger Reserves, 36 Wildlife Sanctuaries and 12 Forest Divisions where tiger movement has been recorded.

Conducted once every four years across India's 53 Tiger Reserves, the nationwide exercise aims to arrive at an accurate estimate of the country's tiger population through a scientific and standardised methodology.

In Karnataka, the census covers Nagarahole, Bandipur, Biligiri Ranganathaswamy Temple (BRT), Bhadra and Kali Tiger Reserves, besides Male Mahadeshwara and Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuaries.

Preparations have also been completed in Forest Divisions such as Mysuru, Hunsur and Gundlupet.

This year, the State Forest Department has deployed 13,024 camera traps across 6,512 locations in 3,212 beats, ensuring comprehensive coverage and data accuracy.

Census at Bandipur

Bandipur Tiger Reserve, Karnataka's first designated tiger reserve, spreads over 1,036 square kilometres, with a dense core area of 872.24 square kilometres.

Tourism is restricted to around ten percent of the reserve area. The forest has been divided into three Sub-Divisions and 13 Ranges, with 612 grids, 1,224 camera traps, 114 beats and 112 line transects identified for the census.

More than 480 staff members, trained by the National Tiger Authority at Tamil Nadu's Mudhumalai Tiger Reserve, are engaged in the exercise.

At Nagarahole

Nagarahole Tiger Reserve, one of the State's most prominent tiger habitats, extends over 843 square kilometres across Mysuru and Kodagu districts.

It has been divided into three Sub-Divisions and eight Wildlife Ranges. Census operations here involve 91 beats, 496 grids, 992 camera traps and 106 line transects, with around 370 trained personnel deployed.

At BRT Reserve

At BRT Tiger Reserve, census preparations have been completed with beats and grids identified, and staff across multiple ranges trained and assigned duties.

Meanwhile, Male Mahadeshwara Wildlife Sanctuary — soon to be declared Karnataka's sixth tiger reserve — covers 949.28 square kilometres with seven ranges. Census arrangements here include 56 beats, 454 grids, 908 camera traps and the deployment of 225 staff members.

Three-phase task

The census is being conducted in three phases. The first phase, from Jan. 5 to Jan. 7, involves teams of three to four members walking five-kilometre transects each morning to record sightings of tigers, other wildlife, plants and trees.

In the second phase, staff will walk two-kilometre transects twice a day over three days, documenting pug marks, droppings and vegetation within a 400-metre range of the transect line.

The third phase will focus on analysing camera trap images to identify and record individual animals.

The National Tiger Census remains a flagship conservation exercise, generating vital data for wildlife management and policy formulation. Karnataka, home to some of India's most renowned tiger habitats, plays a pivotal role in this nationwide effort.

All set to track stripes, collect precise data

Mysuru, Jan. 5 (MTY&BCT)- The All-India Tiger Census will continue in multiple phases until March 26. For the first time, Divisions where tiger presence has been recorded will also be included. Staff have been instructed and trained to record precise data using the M-Stripes mobile application.

Dr. P. Ramesh Kumar, Director of Project Tiger and Nodal Officer for the census, said: "This year's census is designed to ensure accurate data collection, with technology and training strengthening the process."

Preparations are complete at Bandipur Tiger Reserve, which has 13 Ranges. Director S. Prabhakaran confirmed: "Staff have already been trained. In 114 beats, 612 grids have been identified and 1,224 camera traps are being used step by step to carry out the census."

At Nagarahole Tiger Reserve, which spans eight ranges, staff have also been trained and equipped. Director P.A. Seema explained: "Teams have been prepared to collect precise information with safety. The reserve has 91 beats and 496 grids, where 992 camera traps and 106 transect lines are being used. In the previous census, Nagarahole recorded a tiger density of 11.15 per square kilometre."

Helium cylinder blast triggers eviction of footpath vendors

Effectiveness of drive to be known after 5 pm when street food vendors return

Mysuru City Police clearing footpath vendors near Mysore Palace last evening. Picture right shows footpath near Torchlight Parade Grounds cleared of roadside vendors.

Mysuru, Jan. 5 (RK,PM,MK& BCT)- In a joint operation, the Mysuru City Police and the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) have begun clearing footpath vendors who cook food using LPG cylinders and serve customers by the roadside.

The eviction drive follows the recent helium cylinder blast near the Mysore Palace in which three persons were killed and a couple of others injured. Unregulated footpath food vending across the city had long been a cause for concern and these concerns intensified after the deadly incident.

Most footpath food vendors use domestic gas cylinders, though rules mandate the use of commercial cylinders. Acting against these violations, the Police evicted vendors operating from footpaths.

Unregulated food vending zones, including the footpath stretch in front of the Bannimantap KSRTC Bus Depot, have been cleared.

The eviction drive has also affected footpath fruit and vegetable vendors. Narasimharaja in-charge Inspector Kumar confirmed to Star of Mysore that all street vendors within his jurisdiction have been evicted.

However, the actual impact of the drive will be evident only in the evening, as a majority of street food vendors begin operations after 5 pm.

Despite the enforcement action, street vending and makeshift stalls resurfaced last evening near the Varaha Gate of the Mysore Palace, just days after authorities had cleared the area. Most of the shops that were removed have reappeared, gradually restoring the congested conditions that existed earlier.

Soon after the helium cylinder blast, the City Police and the Mysuru City Corporation had removed more than 50 stalls near the Gun House area, where vendors selling handicrafts, food items, tea and other street businesses were evicted. Commando forces were deployed to ensure that trading did not resume.

However, business activity slowly returned, raising questions about the effectiveness and sustainability of the earlier clearance drive.

Mysuru, Jan. 5 (BLU&BCT)- Higher Education Minister Dr. M.C. Sudhakar, who also serves as Pro-Chancellor of the University of Mysore (UoM), today expressed regret over the declining stature of the once-illustrious institution, observing that students today are increasingly looking to emulate Western Universities.

Speaking at the 106th Convocation of UoM this morning at Crawford Hall, Dr. Sudhakar said Mysore University was a "mother institution," being the first University established in Karnataka and among the earliest in the country.

"In the past, countless students, academics and scholars followed the principles and ideals laid down by Mysore University. Sadly, its standards have now fallen, forcing both students and faculty to look elsewhere, particularly towards Western Universities," he said.

Stating that the financial situation of the University had deteriorated sharply, the Minister said the institution does not have sufficient funds to pay pensions to retirees and salaries to thousands of lecturers and professors. "The University requires about Rs. 154 crore every year to manage salaries and other expenses. The quality has declined and it is indeed a sad state of affairs," he said, while adding that as Pro-Chancellor, he was not expected to speak in such harsh and negative terms.

Pinning the blame

Blaming the prevailing "system" and past "mismanagement" for the crisis, Dr. Sudhakar said the situation had now become extremely difficult to rectify. "This mess should have been addressed at the initial stage. Unfortunately, the deteriorating condition was ignored over the years and has now grown to gigantic proportions," he observed.

The Minister said the State Government was making concerted efforts to strengthen the higher education sector by collaborating with reputed institutions, including Azim Premji University.

Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot, the Chancellor of the University, presided over the Convocation ceremony, while former Chairman of the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO), Dr. S. Somanath, delivered the Convocation Address.

Honorary D.Litt degrees

Three eminent personalities were conferred with Honorary D.Litt degrees during the ceremony. They are noted film director and producer S.V. Rajendra Singh Babu, Karnataka State Human Rights Commission Chairman Dr. T. Sham Bhatt and Global Education Trust Chairman P. Jayachandra Raju.

University of Mysore Vice-Chancellor Prof. N.K. Lokanath, Registrar M.K. Savitha, Registrar (Evaluation) Prof. N. Nagaraja and Finance Officer K.S. Rekha were present.

In all, 30,966 candidates received various degrees, with women topping the list at 18,612 graduates, compared to 12,354 men. Ph.D degrees were awarded to 449 candidates across disciplines, of whom 238 were men and 211 women.

Mysuru, Jan. 5 (BLU&BCT)- Coming from a humble background, Chandrashekhara — whose father Sannappa is a shepherd and mother Shanthamma a manual labourer — has set his sights high in Kannada literature after securing 13 gold medals and four cash prizes in Kannada. He hails from Kannerumadu village at Kanakagiri, Koppal.

Recalling his difficult childhood, Chandrashekhara said he experienced extreme poverty from a young age and could not attend school from Classes 1 to 4 as he had to accompany his father to graze sheep. "My father continues in the same profession even today, and our family depends on that income to eke out a living," he said.

"I have studied Kannada literature in depth, especially the works of Dr. S.L. Bhyrappa, and had the opportunity to interact with several noted litterateurs during my M.A. Kannada course. I wish to continue my research and academic pursuits in Kannada," he added.

B.S. Varnika, who secured 24 gold medals and six cash prizes in Chemistry, hails from Mulki in Mangaluru. Her parents, Niranjan and Shubhalakshmi, are both teachers.

Attributing her achievement to dedicated study and hard work, Varnika said she plans to pursue a Ph.D. and contribute to improving human life through chemistry research and scholarship.

Prerana, who bagged 16 gold medals in M.Tech (Civil Engineering) at the National Institute of Engineering (NIE) under the Urban and Regional Planning stream, is the daughter of Lokaprakash Narayan and Shilpa.

She expressed her desire to pursue research in her field, which focuses on training professionals to design, manage and develop sustainable cities and regions. "I want to combine technical planning, policy and research to address the challenges of rapid urbanisation and infrastructure growth," she said.

Former ISRO Chairman calls for ethical, human-centric innovation

Mysuru, Jan. 5 (BLU&BCT)- Delivering the UoM Convocation Address, former Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) Chairman Dr. S. Somanath said that while material resources are finite, the human mind has no limits. Decisions may be driven by data, he observed, but meaningful action must be guided by conscience. He called for building bridges across disciplines, communities and nations, and for leaving every place better than one found it.

Addressing scholars and researchers, Dr. Somanath urged dedication, presence and openness. He encouraged them to publish and collaborate across borders while remaining rooted in their origins, stressing that the world needs not only scientific excellence but also moral responsibility.

To humanists, artists and communicators, he highlighted the need to preserve collective imagination, bring clarity amid growing noise and tell stories that unite rather than divide.

Describing teachers and public servants as custodians of the republic, he said every student carries national values and every law impacts citizens' lives. Their role, he noted, is to nurture accountability and sustain public trust. Graduates, he added, must be resilient, as innovation often emerges from adversity.

Cautioning against measuring success solely in terms of profit, Dr. Somanath called for a pursuit anchored in dignity and truth. Universities, he said, must become transformative research spaces where ideas move beyond paper into real-world applications through hands-on learning. He suggested that Mysuru should evolve into a hub for startups and creative experimentation, blending technology with ethics and empathy.

Emphasising that knowledge exists for human benefit, he said material progress and inner growth are complementary, not competing forces. From ancient wisdom to modern medicine, India's intellectual tradition, he noted, has consistently sought to enrich human life.

Helium cylinder blast case

CM announces Rs. 5 lakh ex gratia to families of 3 deceased

Mysuru, Jan. 5 (MTY&DM)- Eleven days after the helium cylinder blast that killed three people in front of Jayamarthanda Gate of Mysore Palace on Dec. 25, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah this noon announced that the Government would pay an ex gratia of Rs. 5 lakh to the families of deceased.

Speaking to mediapersons upon his arrival on a two-day visit to the city at Mysore Airport here this noon, Siddaramaiah said that ex gratia would soon be paid to the families of the deceased.

"Thanks to the blessings of the people, tomorrow I will be breaking the record of former Chief Minister late D. Devaraj Urs for the longest tenure of Chief Minister of Karnataka. Like me, Devaraj Urs hailed from Mysuru district. It will not be wise to compare me with Urs. The times of Devaraj Urs was different from that of today. After all, records are meant to be broken and I am doing that with the blessings and as per the wish of the electorates," he said adding, "It is to be noted that records are not permanent and a leader may break my record too in future."

The CM stated that he has not thought as yet on holding 'Sadhana Samavesha' in the near future.

Commenting on the chances of Cabinet reshuffle or expansion, Siddaramaiah said the matter will be discussed with Leader of the Opposition in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi later this month. "I will meet Rahul when he asks me. I will start making Budget preparations after Sankranti festival", he maintained.

Replying to a question on measures for preventing man-animal conflicts, the CM said the tiger population has increased in the State and this is one of the reasons why tigers are straying into human habitats. The forest department has been asked to capture tigers whenever they stray and release them into other forests, he noted.

Strongly criticising the Centre for renaming MNREGA scheme, Siddaramaiah said the Centre has renamed it as G RAM G, which is an unconstitutional Act.

The CM said with the introduction of the renamed scheme, Karnataka would be losing Rs. 3,000 crore annually, as the State has to borne 40 percent of the scheme's expenditure. Contending that the G RAM G act would rob the rural population of jobs and financial security, he charged the centre of being anti-poor and anti-working class.

CM has been elected for five years: Minister Satish Jarkiholi

Satish Jarkiholi

Mysuru, Jan. 5 (MTY&DM)- Maintaining that the Chief Minister of the State has been elected for five years, PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi said this has been often been asserted by several Congress leaders including himself and even CM Siddaramaiah.

Speaking to mediapersons at Mysore Airport here this morning, Satish Jarkiholi, who is considered a Siddaramaiah loyalist, said that the discussions and speculations about the CM's post should end.

Stating that he has not said anything on the so-called power sharing agreement and that he had not said that discussions on power sharing would take place after the State Budget, as reported in a section of the media, Satish said he cannot say this as he was not in a position of power to talk about this matter. "I am not in the race for the CM post nor even the KPCC president post. These issues are not being discussed now. Let us see when they come up", he contended. Reacting to Ballari violence, in which a Congress worker was killed, Satish said an impartial probe into the clashes is being held.

"Let the investigation report come. The true facts about the clashes and the circumstances that led to the violence would be known only when the probe is completed", he said.

The team inspected the spot and advised Airport personnel not to move alone, while also cautioning them to remain alert and ensure safety.

Later, DCF Paramesh, accompanied by Range Forest Officer (RFO) Santosh Hugar, veterinarians Dr. Waseem Mirza and Dr. Adarsh, and personnel from the Leopard Task Force (LTF) and Elephant Task Force (ETF), numbering over 50, reached the Airport to carry out a combing operation. The tiger is believed to be a sub-adult.

Forest personnel deployed a drone camera to track the tiger's movements and initiated an intensive search operation. However, there was no sighting or concrete clue regarding the animal's whereabouts.

Officials suspect that the tiger may have moved out of the Airport premises and fled towards the nearby forest areas through the surrounding agricultural fields.

Forest teams subsequently extended the combing operation into the agricultural fields to confirm whether the tiger had exited the Airport region. However, no pug marks were found during the search.

The combing operation was still in progress when we went to the Press.

500-metre nightmare on Dr. Rajkumar Road

Mysuru, Jan. 5 (KS)- Dr. Rajkumar Road, one of the prominent roads in Mysuru city, is asphalted for most of its length, except for a neglected 500-metre stretch between the Yaraganahalli Traffic Signal junction and Cauvery Circle — a stretch that has become a nightmare for motorists.

Riddled with large potholes and left un-asphalted, this 500-metre portion poses serious difficulties for commuters, especially during the rainy season, when travel becomes extremely dangerous.

Dr. Rajkumar Road connects Mahadevapura Road and passes through Yaraganahalli, Raghavendranagar and Kalyangiri.

As a key arterial route used daily by thousands of commuters, the continued neglect of this short stretch has drawn sharp criticism from road users, who accuse the authorities concerned of turning a blind eye to their plight.

The stretch is lined with commercial establishments, fruit & vegetable vendors and residential houses. Due to the un-asphalted surface, thick dust rises and settles on agricultural produce, shops and homes, posing serious health hazards, particularly respiratory problems.

Residents, daily commuters and the general public have urged the authorities concerned to intervene immediately and asphalt the 500-metre stretch of Dr. Rajkumar Road at the earliest.

I want to contest from Chamaraja: Former MP Prathap Simha

'Chamaraja needs a visionary MLA'

Speaking to Star of Mysore, this morning, Prathap Simha said that Chamaraja Constituency does not need an MLA to win the elections by distributing envelopes with money and also not an MLA who only works for welfare of his family members and friends by neglecting the people.

"The Constituency needs an MLA who considers the entire Chamaraja Constituency as his family and works for its development. People have been wanting to have a representative for four to five consecutive terms to keep the continuity of development works like late H.S. Shankarlinge Gowda and not keep changing their MLA," he added.

Speaking on the development works he had initiated in Chamaraja Constituency during his tenure as Mysuru-Kodagu MP, Prathap Simha claimed that he was responsible for setting up of Oxygen Plants at K.R. Hospital and Princess Krishnajammanni Super Specialty Hospital on KRS Road during COVID-19, Passport Seva Kendra at Metagalli Post Office, rectification of accident spot near Jaladarshini Guest House on Hunsur Road, installation of LPG pipeline starting from Hebbal, establishment of Kidwai and other health centres worth Rs. 356 crore, a grant of Rs. 89 crore for renovation of hospitals under MMC&RI among others.

"Having a vision to develop the Constituency further, I will ensure Chamaraja emerges as the top most developed Constituency in the State," he added.

On Ballari issue

Condemning the Ballari violence, Prathap Simha alleged that the Chief Minister had anti-social elements surrounded him. "Ballari incident is a shameful act. It is not only the mistake of Congress MLA Bharath Reddy but also the mistake of the person who had taken him as a confidant. Earlier, such incidents were being reported from Bihar and Uttar Pradesh, now it has occurred in Karnataka. Speaker should have initiated action against Bharath Reddy for speaking out of emotion at the Legislative Assembly. With no action initiated, it has resulted in Bharath Reddy growing up to this level," he added.

"Even we have weapons and gunmen. But we do not indulge in such acts. It is the freedom given by CM Siddaramaiah that has resulted in such situations. The State Government must consider the fact that a Kannadiga had lost his life and not a Congress worker," he said and questioned the State Government's move to name Janardhan Reddy as Accused No. 1 in the case.

Taking a dig at the CM, Prathap Simha said, while Siddaramaiah could break the record of former CM Devaraj Urs for being the longest CM, he cannot follow his style of administration.

'Let S.R. Mahesh contest from Chamundeshwari'

JD(S) MLC C.N. Manjegowda, speaking at Kuvempu Jayanti celebrations in K.R. Nagar yesterday, urged former Minister and JD(S) State Working President S.R. Mahesh to contest from Chamundeshwari Assembly Constituency in the 2028 Assembly Polls promising that he would work to ensure his victory.

"JD(S) workers, in both Chamundeshwari and K.R. Nagar, have been demanding S.R. Mahesh to contest the next Assembly Polls from their respective Constituencies. However, plots will be hatched to defeat S.R. Mahesh in K.R. Nagar. So, I have been pressurising him to contest from Chamundeshwari with an assurance that he would emerge victorious," Manjegowda said.

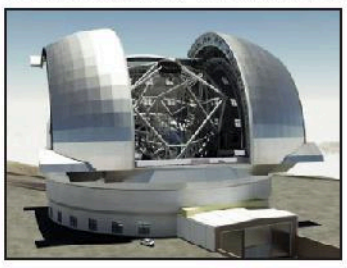
WORD OF THE DAY

Titanic

Pronunciation: tye-TAN-ik (adjective)



Meaning: Something described as titanic is very great in size, force or power.

Origin: Before becoming the name of the most famous ship in history, titanic described that which resembled or was related to the Titans, the family of giant gods and goddesses in Greek mythology who were believed to have once ruled the earth. They were subsequently overpowered and replaced by the younger Olympian gods under the leadership of Zeus. The size and power of the Titans is memorialised in the adjective titanic and in the noun titanium, a chemical element of exceptional strength that is used especially in the production of steel.

Example: "Absurdly, though, if you were standing on a Rodinian beach [on the ancient supercontinent of Rodinia] you might not have even noticed the seas rising at all. This is because, as the land bounced back from underneath the weight of the now-vanished ice sheets and the gravitational pull of these titanic ice sheets on the oceans disappeared, the seas might have appeared to some Rodinian beachgoers to instead retreat from the coast and even drop by over three hundred feet—despite the unthinkable rise in sea level globally." — Peter Brannan, The Story of CO2 Is the Story of Everything: How Carbon Dioxide Made Our World, 2025.

THE ODD WORD

Facinorous

Atrociously wicked.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Show of hands

Meaning: 'Show of hands' means raising hands to vote about something

Origin: Voting can take place in many ways and one of the most common is described as a "show of hands." The origin of the phrase "A show of hands" is believed to be 1789 England.

Example: "By a show of hands, how many of you would prefer to have the test on Friday?"

CRYPTOQUIP

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

'Special' drama performance

Mysuru, Jan. 5- A unique drama performance by children with special needs will be held at Mini Theatre in Kalamandira premises tomorrow (Jan. 6) at 6 pm.

This is a first-of-its-kind English drama, highlighting the children's talent, confidence and self-expression and proving that ability goes beyond disability.

The drama has been carefully guided by Padha Trust, an organisation working for children with special needs, along with Dhyan Vidya Samshitha teachers and directed by Praveen Belli, an alumnus of Rangayana.

Their encouragement and inclusive approach will help the children perform confidently on stage. The event aims to promote inclusion, awareness and equal opportunities through the performing arts.
